

Bob's War game introduction

Patrick Fan, Echo Liu

This is the most fantastic and exciting game in the world!

In a dark gross night, two players, Bob and you, start to play this game.

First, the system will gather 52 cards, which contains 13 numbers and 4 colors. Then it will shuffle them and distribute equally to Bob and you. Each of you will own 26 cards and play the card on the top each turn. People whose card has a bigger number will take both cards to his or her collection in this round. However, if the values of these two cards are same, a war begins. During the war, each of you should play 5 cards and then compare the value of the fifth cards. People with the bigger numbers can luckily take all the 10 cards to the bottom of the collection and keep on playing game. In the condition that the values of the fifth cards are equal, Bob and you can take back your own cards and continue the game. Finally, people who plays all their cards out will loose. On the other hand, people who gets 52 cards will be the winner!

Come and join us !

[Note: 2 is the smallest while Ace is the largest. And there are no differences between diverse colors.]